

Dr. Ivan Tabone earned his Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Malta and was subsequently admitted to the bar. He furthered his legal education by pursuing a Master's degree in International Maritime Law at the IMO International Maritime Law Institute.

Currently, Dr. Tabone serves as the Chief Officer and Registrar General of Shipping and Seamen for the Malta Ship Registry, operating under the Authority for Transport in Malta. His primary area of expertise lies in the human element, having previously headed the Seafarer Department for several years, where he oversaw the training, certification, and welfare of seafarers.