Overview of 29 Maritime Administrations

On 3 June 2004, the European Commission (DG TREN) requested from EMSA technical input supporting the forthcoming new legislative proposals on maritime safety.

A report was prepared showing how EU Member States had organised their maritime administrations and how the respective bodies implemented their obligations under the International Conventions and EU legislation, relating to safety at sea and pollution prevention from ships.

Since the first delivery of the "Overview" in 2004, the number of EU Member States has increased from 25 to 27 (Bulgaria and Romania joined the European Union on 1 January 2007). New pieces of legislation have also come into force at international and European level, which have implied, in some cases, changes in the organisation of the EU maritime administrations. Following these changes, EMSA, in cooperation with the Members States, decided to update the 2007 version of the "Overview".

An overview of the 30 European maritime administrations

On 3 June 2004, the European Commission (DG TREN) requested from the European Maritime Safety Agency (EMSA) a technical input supporting the forthcoming new legislative proposals on maritime safety.

A report was prepared showing how EU Member States had organised their maritime administrations and how the respective bodies implemented their obligations under the International Conventions and EU legislation, relating to Safety at Sea and Pollution prevention from ships.

New pieces of legislation have also come into force at international and European level, which have implied, in some cases, changes in organisation of the EU maritime administrations.

Following these changes, EMSA, in co-operation with the Members States, decided to update the 2007 version of the "Overview". Information about the Icelandic and Norwegian maritime administrations was also included. A web version of the "Overview of the 29 European maritime administrations" was created to facilitate regular and timely updates, which will be performed directly by the maritime administrations through the Consultative Network for Technical Assistance (CNTA) focal points.

The web version shows how the EU Member States and EEA Countries have organised their maritime administrations and, for each Member State, contains the following:

- Information on the Head of the maritime administration;
- Government body covering several areas of responsibility under the IMO and the ILO conventions;
- Government body covering several areas of responsibility under the European maritime safety legislation;
- Consistency of the fleet;
- Authorised recognised organisations;
- Statutory works delegated to recognised organisations;
- Number of flag State surveyors;
- Number of Port State Control Officers.

New pieces of legislation have also come into force at international and European level which in some cases have led to changes in the organisation of certain EU maritime administrations.

Following these changes, the report was updated by EMSA in cooperation with members states in 2007, 2010 and 2014.

The 2014 version for each member state contains the following:

- Contact points
- Status of Conventions
- IMO Audit Scheme
- STCW Recognitions
- Recognised Organisations & functions delegated
- Performance and composition of the fleet
- Number of surveyors & investigators
- Port Reception Facilities

The degree of cooperation shown by CNTA focal points in providing the requested data has been very much appreciated by EMSA.
