

Áslaug Eir Hólmgeirsdóttir

Head of Marine Division
Icelandic Transport Authority
E-mail: aslaug.e.holmgeirsdottir@samgongustofa.is

EDUCATION: Continuous professional development in public administration, artificial intelligence, leadership and management, negotiation, and related fields.
2026: Leadership and Management, London School of Business Administration.
2017: Completed one semester of the Master's programme in Human Resource Management at the University of Iceland.
2011: Diploma in the Law of the Sea, Rhodes Academy of Oceans Law and Policy.
2007: Master's degree in Fisheries Science, University of Iceland.
2003: B.A. in Political Science, University of Iceland.

CURRENT POSITION: Head of the Marine Division, Icelandic Transport Authority.

PREVIOUS POSITIONS: 2020–2026: Director General for Fisheries, Ministry of Industries.

2007–2020: Head of the Fisheries Monitoring and Legal Division and Deputy Director General, Directorate of Fisheries.

2004–2007: Project Manager for International Affairs, Service Centre, Social Insurance Administration (alongside Master's studies).

AREAS OF EXPERTISE: Fish stocks negotiation and representation; public speaking and lecturing; strategic planning; executive leadership; project and change management; digital transformation and IT development; public policy; performance management; legislative and regulatory drafting; organisational restructuring; and implementation of equality initiatives and certification processes.